

Local Planning and Network Development

As part of a Local Planning and Network Development (LPND) process, Texas Health and Human Services Commission requires Local Mental Health Authorities (LMHAs) to develop biennial plans for expanding provider networks when interested and qualified providers are available. Central Counties Services is a LMHA that is required to complete this planning process.

This process is only for provider organizations interested in providing a full level of care of mental health services to include physician services, case management, counseling (e.g., Cognitive Behavior Therapy), psychiatric diagnostic interview examination, medication training and support, supported employment, psychosocial rehabilitative services, supported housing, medication management, skills training, and specialty services to include crisis intervention services, mobile crisis outreach, and crisis hotline services to the non-Medicaid Managed Care population.

Providers interested in providing mental health services to the Medicaid population can find information at www.hhsc.state.tx.us/medicaid/managed-care/mmc/adding-mental-health-svcs.
